APPENDIX.

A—MISSIONS.

When we appeal to the Scriptures for authority in mission work we cannot fail to see our work contained therein. Besides the great commission given by Jesus Himself to his Apostles, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." We hold that the commission is as binding on the church of the present day as it was on the Apostles. We learn from the pages of Divine inspiration that the church is the instrumentality through which the Gospel is to be preached to all people, and in every time. The entire world is open to the reception of the Gospel. Then with the example of the Apostles, and the knowledge we get from the Scriptures, we cannot doubt that it is our duty to give of our means for the support of the Gospel at home and abroad. The truth as taught by Baptists is taking a stronger hold upon the people and being received with greater joy than ever before; not only in our midst but in destitute portions of our State, where Missionaries are supplied through the State Board; and also in foreign lands where God-called men are spending their lives to bring the heathen to a knowledge of the truth as it is in Christ Jesus. Then we say that the obligation to give of our means is stronger to-day than at any other period of the Christian era, and still growing stronger every day.

Respectfully submitted,

W. F. SKINNER,
R. B. SANDERS,
C. C. GADDY.

B—MINISTERIAL CONSECRATION AND SUPPORT.

"Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature—Teach them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you," is a direct command of the Savior. Certainly those who received this commission did not understand that they would live to fulfill this command, since the Savior instructed them to teach others to do the same; and He would be with them to the end of the world, which event has not yet happened.

From numerous Bible examples, those who received this commission went about to execute it as if their whole life was consecrated to the one object. This commission being perpetuated, the ministers of to day should consecrate themselves to their work in like manner. They were commanded to "provide neither gold nor silver nor brass, in their purses, for the workman is worthy of his meat." "Even so hath the Lord ordained that they who preach the Gospel should live of the Gospel."

Evidently the above quotations from the Bible place the responsibility of the support of a consecrated minister on those who are its beneficiaries. From this responsibility none can escape. The widow, though she possessed only two mites, gave them both cheerfully, and she received a commendation from the Savior above those who gave more.

Respectfully submitted,

D. T. GUYTON,

D. P. SMITH,

W. W. HOLLINGSWORTH

C—PUBLICATION

Your committee on Publication submit the following report:

We would recommend that the membership of our churches daily read and carefully study the Bible. While we do not oppose the reading of other religious publications, yet it is our opinion that they are read too much to the neglect of the great fountain of truth. In addition to the Bible we recommend the Baptist Record, Home Field and Kind Words, series of Sunday School literature.

J. A. JACKSON,

G. W. LINDSEY,

L. WOODS.

D—TEMPERANCE.

The most ardent advocates of the whiskey traffic—those engaged in it—only justify it as a means of accumulating money. The evils to our country from the use of alcoholic drinks is incalculable. It is evil and only evil continually. Its resolutions would abate and abolish it, long since would it have been removed from us; but still we are confronted with the monster evil.

Your committee believes it is time for action and call upon all Baptists to use all moral and legal power at their disposal for riddance of our country of its evil effects.

Respectfully submitted,

J. P. BROWN,

C. W. PREVOST,

R. J. THRAILKILL.

E—EDUCATION.

We believe education to be second to nothing but the religion of Christ. Education means more than mere literary knowledge. It means also a moral training, a development of nobler faculties of the mind. Without the latter the former often proves a curse. This being true, surely we should be very careful how we train those whom God has placed under our care and influence, and also whom we employ to teach them. The facilities for learning are constantly increasing to meet the growing demand. Amid this progress surely the Gospel ministry should avail themselves of all the means at their command to gather a store of useful knowledge. We know of no institution of learning better qualified, or that offers greater inducements to young men, and especially to young ministers, than our own Mississippi College.

Respectfully submitted,

D. L. WILSON,
E. Y. FLEMING,
J. M. ELLINGTON.

F—WOMAN'S WORK.

Your committee regret that the churches have made no reports of this department of our work. Would earnestly recommend that in the future the letters embrace the amounts raised by our noble women; and that churches and pastors encourage them in the good work in which they are engaged for our Lord and Master.

We are glad to be able to report that the amount raised during the last Conventional year shows that our women are in earnest and doing a great work for the spread of the Gospel. Amount raised, $9,830.-68; number of Woman's Mission Societies, 474; number of new Mission Societies, 22; number of new Bands, 10.

Out of the 36 Associations in the State 27 report Woman's Work. In the language of the Secretary and Treasurer of the Central Committee, "All honor to the bands of women who have given of their store to the spread of the Gospel at home and in foreign lands." We refer the women of the Association to sister Bella Hilman, Clinton, Miss., and sister Rebecca Sproles, Jackson, Miss., for information and literature.

Respectfully submitted,

J. P. BROWN,
H. F. GREGORY,
J. H. JAMISON.

G—SUSTENTATION.

We your committee on Sustentation beg leave to report the following:

The demands of this important matter appeal to us as Christians—first, to our sense of justice; second, to our sympathy. Justice demands of us that these men who have, in part, forsaken their homes and loved ones and given their lives to the noble work of preaching the Gospel of Christ should, when the vigor of manhood has passed, be supported by those whom they have so faithfully served. Brethren, this duty must be performed and this responsibility met. If we would stand blameless before the Master—if we should so far forget the demand of justice upon us in regard to this matter, it does seem that the tender chord of sympathy in our bosoms would be touched by the silent appeals from their helplessness and destitution.

*Ad

Let us in the future give liberally of our substance to the support of our indigent ministers, their widows and orphans.

Respectfully submitted,

J. R. RILEY,
G. W. GARRETT,
J. L. WILSON.

H.—SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

The importance of teaching the young the fear of the Lord antedates the coming of our Savior, and the command is perpetuated throughout the Apostolic writers.

The obligation is just as binding to-day as it was when Solomon penned the memorable proverb, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Hence, your committee regret to see so little interest in the churches in regard to this great work of teaching God's word to our children.

In that it was almost ignored in the letters sent up and read here, your committee would earnestly urge upon pastors and delegates the importance of bringing this cause speedily before their churches; and see to it that a Sunday School is organized at every point where possible and reported in the church letter to the Association.

Respectfully submitted.

R. B. SANDERS,
J. P. SMITH.
J. P. GARNER.

I.—NOMINATIONS, QUERIES AND REQUESTS.

We your committee report the following:

We find requests from Kosciusko, Pilgrim's Rest, Bethsaida, Samaria, County Line and Poplar Creek, for the next meeting of the Association to be with them. We refer the decision of this matter to the Association; and that Elder D. L. Wilson preach the next introductory sermon, C. C. Gaddy alternate.

T. J. FOWLER,
J. N. PRIDE,
J. BOWLIN.

J.—OBITUARIES.

We find from the reading of the letters from the churches, that twenty-two deaths were reported, and we recommend that the Clerk insert in the minutes the names, ages and date of each one reported.

Respectfully submitted.
